

2019 MAJOR – Dance and Performance

(Qualifying Major for Bachelor of Arts)

This major assumes a wide definition of dance and performance. The program considers not just the aesthetic dimension of dance and performance, but also their social, cultural, historical, and metaphorical frameworks. Students will explore their own dance and performance making, combining theoretical and conceptual understandings with practical production experience and will develop confidence and work independently as artists. This is a unique interdisciplinary major designed for those who wish to be creative practitioners in dance and performance, or those seeking career opportunities in the performing arts and associated fields.

The table below is a suggested first session for students beginning in Session 2, 2019. Please make your selection of units after reviewing the requirements of your award in the 2019 Handbook:
