

2019 MAJOR – Human Resources

(Qualifying Major for Bachelor of Arts)

Human resource management involves the management of employees and of the employment relationship. The Human Resources major prepares students to respond to challenges and change in the workplace. A strong emphasis is on understanding the processes and techniques that create and maintain high-performing, efficient and ethical organisations. The major addresses aspects of day-to-day operations, strategic thinking and decision-making. Students will develop skills and techniques to manage change and sustainability, develop coaching and consulting skills, and learn how to formulate strategies to get the right employees, with the right skills, in the right place, at the right time.

The table below is a suggested first session for students beginning in Session 2, 2019. Please make your selection of units after reviewing the requirements of your award in the 2019 Handbook:

- You must also meet the general requirements for the degree for which you will qualify.
- It may be possible to satisfy the requirements of your degree by taking a different selection of units in your first session from those suggested above.
- Consider what units you will want to study in second and third year. Prerequisite requirements for those units must be completed prior to enrolment in the higher-level unit.
- For a double major complete required units for both majors where possible in the first year. If considering a double major consult the criteria found at www.handbook.mq.edu.au/2019/Majors.
- You can receive specific program advice from the faculty at any stage in your degree by lodging a “Program Advice” enquiry via <http://ask.mq.edu.au>.
