

2017 MAJOR – Gender Studies

(Qualifying Major for Bachelor of Business Administration with the degree of Bachelor of Arts)

Gender Studies investigates what it means to be a woman or a man in different times and different places. Our focus is on masculinity as well as femininity. We look closely at the impact of gender, sex and sexuality on our lives in a variety of arenas: at home, at work, on the streets, in the classroom, in the media, in pulpits and in prison. Who are we? Why are we the ways we are? What directions is society taking and how can it be transformed? Gender Studies offer new approaches to untangling these questions. We bring together units in Anthropology, Asian Studies, Biology, Education, English, History, Law, Media, Psychology, Human Geography, Philosophy, Sociology and more. We also offer units focused solely on Gender Studies, building the foundations of our specialist knowledge, and using it to peer into some surprising new fields of thought and everyday practices. Studying the discipline involves encounters with political forebears and visionary thinkers (Mary Wollstonecraft, Frederick Engels, Sigmund Freud, Simone de Beauvoir and others, through to contemporary gender theorists like Judith Butler). Our students are women and men, new entry and 'mature' age, full-time and part-time, internal and external, local and international.

The table below is a suggested first session for students beginning in Session 2, 2017. Please make your selection of units after reviewing the requirements of your award in the 2017 Handbook:

- You must also meet the general requirements for the degree to which you will qualify.
- It may be possible to satisfy the requirements of your degree by taking a different selection of units in your first year from those suggested above.
- Consider what units you will want to study in second and third year. Prerequisite requirements for those units must be completed prior to enrolment in the higher unit.
- For a double major complete required units for both majors where possible in the first year. If considering a double major consult the criteria found at www.handbook.mq.edu.au/2017/Majors.
- All students must complete one People unit and one Planet unit. Criteria and available units can be viewed at www.handbook.mq.edu.au/2017/Units/Planet and www.handbook.mq.edu.au/2017/Units/People.
- You can receive specific program advice from the faculty at any stage in your degree by lodging a “Program Advice” enquiry via <http://ask.mq.edu.au>.
